

1992

NEW VISIONS OF LEADERSHIP
Global Forum of Women

New Choices: Political, Economic and Personal

Dublin, Ireland

July 1992

Dear Forum Participants:

Céad Míle Fáilte!

You are a part of the vast groundswell of women's activities in all aspects of politics, science, the arts, business, development, and the media which are transforming the world and forging new leadership for the future.

In Ireland, as in every other country around the world, significant challenges to old orders and structures are being met by women. As women move into positions of leadership at every level, their presence has transformed the meaning of leadership. New values from women's experiences are finding their way into the creation of new structures for our world.

At the 1992 Global Forum of Women, we will share ideas, experiences, and energy to create strategies. We are here to do more than categorize our mutual problems. We are here to use our agreement of empowerment to create solutions, knowing that a future which includes women's knowledge, talent, and the diverse experiences of women's lives will truly be a new world.

Sincerely,

Monica Barnes

Monica Barnes, TD
Co-Chair, Irish Secretariat
1992 Global Forum of Women

Margret Fine-Davis

Dr. Margret Fine-Davis
Co-Chair, Irish Secretariat
1992 Global Forum of Women